Notes:

Results shown are for the Romspen US Mortgage Investment Fund (the “Fund”), and are best efforts estimates, subject to confirmation at quarter end. The Fund is one of a number of feeder funds of the Master Fund in a master-feeder structure, and will have certain additional administrative fees and expenses, which will cause the Fund’s net return to be lower than those of the Master Fund. Calculations of compound net return are net of Fund fees and expenses, assume monthly reinvestment of distributions, and accounted for NAV fluctuations.

The High Quality Market (HQM) 5 Year Corporate Bond Yield Curve is produced by the U.S. Treasury, and represents the spot yield for a market-weighted average of high-quality U.S. corporate bonds (AAA, AA, A) with 5-year maturities. The S&P 500® is a market-capitalization-weighted index of the 500 largest publicly-traded companies in the U.S. by market value, and gauges the return of large-cap U.S. equities. These are unmanaged, broadly based indices and measurements which do not reflect any management fees and (in the case of the S&P500) assume reinvestment of income. Index information was obtained from publicly available sources and is included to illustrate relative market performance for the periods indicated and not as a standard of comparison. The indices should not be considered “benchmarks” for the Fund, as they do not track commercial mortgage investments, which is the Master Fund’s investment strategy. Whenever the Master Fund’s net return for a given time period is compared to the performance of these indices over the same time period, the purpose is to compare the Master Fund’s return against the performance of other major U.S. asset classes typically included in an investment portfolio.
